ECHOES OF THE ALBERTA PRESS CONVENTION

Thursday and Friday of last week, members of the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association met in Edmonton, where the meetings were held in the MacDonald Hotel.

During the morning and afternoon sessions of the two days, papers were read which dealt with the various problems and points of interest to the publishers, and interesting discussions followed

Thursday evening the delegates were entertained at dinner, when they were the guests of the two Edmonton Dailies, the Journal and the Bulletin.

At this banquet Mr John Imrie of the Journal was chairman, which position he filled in a delightful and efficient manner. After the toast to the King, Mr. Imrie on behalf of the Journal voiced a very gracious welcome to the guests, and Mr. W. De Graves of the Bulletin endorsed the welcome extended by Mr Imrie. The chairman then asked Dr Wallace, the new Principal of the University of Alberta to give an address.

Dr Wallace has a manner of such charming simplicity, and ring of sincerity, that it renders all the more inspiring, the vital and profound statements which make his address. One feels very strongly that the University of Alberta is exceedingly fortunate in having such a man as Dr Wallace as its principal, and the entire Province fortunate in him as a citizen.

After he had thanked the Press for the welcome they had given him when he was a new-comer and a stranger in our midst, he went on to outline the scope and power a paper has, and what should be its aim.

He then touched on the many varisided activities of the University, which are not only for the benefit of the students in attendance, but the various lines of assistance given throughout the Province.

With an astute grasp of the present and a forward look that is keen and comprehensive, we repeat the Province as a whole is indeed fortunate in having a man of the calibre of Dr. Wallace as a citizen.

Chairman Imrie then asked Mr McGarvey who sang one of Masefields poems "I must go down to the Seas again" Mr McGarvey possesses a splendid voice and it is a delight to hear him.

Mr Imrie then called on Premier Brownlee to give an address.

Premier Brownlee is an exceedingly able orator and during the course of his address he held the closest attention of all.

He took as his subject the Economic Condition of the Province of Alberta. Premier Brownlee is an ardent enthusiast in the possibilities and future of the Province. With a clear and full analysis of the economic state of Alberta for the past decade, he touched on the people of both the prosperous and the lean years (for an extreme pessimism is as dangerous as an extreme spendthrift condition on the public as a whole) The effort to modify these extremes had been some of the problems of the Government, and these efforts had resulted in a saner outlook, and a general and wholesome trend upwards. The Premier stated the Province had recovered from the effect of the boom days and had arrived at a condition where one could look with a cheerful face to the future.

In this connection the Premier stated that whereas some years previous it was difficult to obtain money to invest in Alberta, now large and bona fide financial men were seeking the placing of money in Alberta.

Another cause for optimism, the Premier mentioned was the fact that the wonderful development that is taking place in the north and the Peace River country is bound to react in favor in the other parts of the Province.

Mr Imrie who had accompanied Premier Brownlee and Dr Wallace on their trip to the Peace River country he also exceedingly enthusiastic on the possibilities of the north country. During the course of a very able address in the afternoon he stated that there is as much agricultural land available for settlement in the Peace River as is now producing grain in the three prairie Provinces. This gives a faint idea of the possibilities awaiting the development of the Province of Alberta as a whole.

The Keeper of the Celestial Gate asked from within who the first applicant might be

"It's me!" a voice made reply, and St. Peter bade him come in.

Another knock. Another question. "Who's there?" Another answer, "It's me!"

"Come in!" said the guarding angel.

Then another sharp rap. "Who's there?" asked St. Peter.

"It is I!" a voice replied.

"Another one of those dang school teachers!" grumbled St. Peter.

The recent amalgamation of a number of grain companies, known as Federal Grain Ltd., head office at Winnipeg operating over 350 elevators in the west have recently acquired the R. B. McLean elevators at Hussar, Carseland Arrowwood, Shouldice, Three Hills, and Daysland. Last season this company built elevators at Tudor, Rockyford, Standard, Ensign, Milo, Stavely and Carstairs. With over 70 elevators now operating in Alberta it has been necessary to open an office in Calgary, which will give a much needed service to the community The Calgary office is located at 29, Michael Building. Mr. H. B. Judd of Winnipeg is Western Manager for the company.

The U.F.W.A. met at Mrs Ashley's beautiful new home Wednesday, Sept. 18th. About twenty-one ladies were present. The business of the clinic was finished up. Mrs Frantz proposed a letter of thanks be sent to Mr Froiberger for his generous assistance at the clinic. Every one seems most satisfied with the clinic and would be pleased to have it again. Delegates were elected for the convention to be held at Meadow Brook Hall, Gleichen, on September 25th. We are hoping quite a number will be able to go The meeting was adjourned and a pleasant social hour was spent. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be at Mrs Downey's, about October 9th.

Tony Grogan wandered into town on Monday and as usual had a new lot of interesting stories, anecdotes Tony called them. One that the Standard heard him telling was about a friend of his who is also a drummer. This gentleman expected to do 300 points after o most arderous trip on a Friday but by hustling found that he would reach Calgary on Thursday, hence wired his wife to that effect Imagine his surprise when he reached his domicile to find his wife entertaining another commercial man. Naturally Tony's friend was very much annoyed and decided to pack up his home and cab-quits. However before doing so, he went over to see his mother-in-law of whom he was very fond, and told her his troubles The dear old lady pleaded with her son-in-law not to be too hasty as it was not "Katies" fault, as she had never received the telegram. Now said Tony what do you think of that? —doesn't that beat the devil.

Geo. H. Brown and family expect to leave shortly for London, Ont. where they expect to make their home.

The people of Strathmore and district were much pleased to learn that Pete Knight who has been a regular competitor at the local stampede, has won the championship at Pendleton, Oregon.

Miss Gertrude Chamberlain has returned to Edmonton where she will day last for Seattle, where she will attend the University of Washington.

D. A. Perry is now listed among the Grasswidowers and busy each morning wrestling with the menu for the day. I don't mind getting breakfast, but it is getting those darn dishes so that friend wife will really and truly believe that I washed them. I would sooner shovel coal all day on a locomotive says D. A.

Bob Anderson and son of Arrowwood were in town on Monday and poor Bob was held up and had to listen to a lot of Tony Grogan's hot air.

The Saturday night hop on September 21 was another winner and a most of the Telephone Staff selected the lucky ticket which gave a nice pair of silk stockings to Mrs George MacLean. Jim Gannon thought that he might be a winner but Ted Sweatman said he was in the ineligible class that night, whatever he means by that the Standard does not know—anyway Jim didn't win.

Local baseball fans were much grieved to learn of the death of the little mite manager of the New York Yankees, Miller Huggins who died at New York on Wednesday.

DRUMHILLER MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL ENLARGED

—o—

(By Edna Kells)

After serving a population of approximately 26,000 persons for nine years, the Drumheller Municipal hospital has been enlarged this year to provide an additional sixty beds, thus increasing the accomodation from 80 to 140 beds. The growing demand for hospital service made this necessary, and the hospital board undertook the task without anxiety, for a surplus of $50,000 had accumulated in those years, and the financing of a $50,000 wing offered no problem. The wing has been built and equipped out of the surplus and a sum sufficient to tide over any possible emergency remains in the coffers. Consequently the members of the board and residents of the district generally, will carry themselves proudly when the extension is opened in the near future.

The Drumheller hospital serves an industrial as well as an agricultural area, the residents of the town being largely miners engaged in the rich Drumheller coal mines. These miners carried the day when the first hospital vote was taken for the rural population was strongly opposed to the idea, and the vote was defeated at every rural point. However, this opposition was short lived, for the country people soon saw the value of the hospital to them, not only from a humanitarian point of view, but because it increased the value of their land. Now they are staunch supporters of the hospital.

From the first the miners favored the Municipal hospital scheme. Mine accidents are all too common, and as housing conditions for the Drumheller miners are not of the best, there was considerable sickness among their families. Then too, there were maternity cases to be given care.

Rural ratepayers in this hospital district approximately forty miles square, are taxed at the rate of 2½ cents per acre for the hospital upkeep; urban property owners pay a tax of 3 mills on the dollar. In return all secure the hospital treatment for $1.50 per day for themselves and families. Non-taxpayers who wish to share this privilege may do so by paying $6.00 per year to the secretary treasurer.

Miners secure free hospital service for themselves and families by paying $5.00 per year per man to the hospital board. Under this plan the miners contribute some $20,000 toward the hospital upkeep, and since many of them are bachelors, and there are so many transient miners, this sum covers their share of the expense.

The agricultural-industrial combination works well. Short crops do not affect the town of Drumheller or the hospital, as they do other towns and hospitals, because Drumheller, though situated in the heart of a great wheat growing country is largely built up by and around the coal industry. Frequently men who farm in summer, join the miners in winter, or even in summer if the crop is light. But miners seldom go to work on farms in summer. Few of them make good farmers and they do not like working in the open.

In the year 1928, 2,032 patients were cared for in Drumheller hospital. Maternity cases numbered 253, with only one maternal death recorded. 142 major and 393 minor operations were performed. The daily average for the year was 59 patients, and from October, 1928, to June 1929 the number never dropped below 65. In February, the average was 76. The chairman of the board, A. P. Hanley, believes that in five years' time at most, it will be necessary to build a nurses' home, thus releasing for hospital purposes the rooms in the new wing now set aside for nurses' quarters. A staff of nine graduate and 16 under graduate nurses looks after the sick.

With the hospital available, the cost of sickness in the Drumheller district has greatly decreased, as people come to the hospital for treatment, thus saving the mileage fee which the doctor must charge when he visits them at their homes. The district is well served with railways, being on the Calgary-Edmonton, and the Calgary-Saskatoon lines of the C.N.R. and the people can be brought to the hospital by train. The roads are fair also, and this makes it easier to bring the sick to the hospitals.

The Drumheller hospital, a three storey brick building, is situated on an acre and a half of grounds, on the outskirts of the town, overlooking the Red Deer river. It is well equipped for all hospital purposes, and is highly appreciated not only by the public but by doctors of the town who find it a good workshop. With the hospital available, they say they can give the people a service not possible were it necessary to care for them in their homes.

NAMAKA NEWS

Mrs Wm. Fawkes arrived home during the week with her young daughter, Jean Armor.

Mrs Mertgen arrived Sunday to look after her farm interests, returning to Bassano on Monday.

Mr. Elmer Hare accompanied by Rae are spending a few days in the district shooting.

Mr Lemks and Mr Vanhalthenry of Calgary spent the week end enjoying the season's sport.

Mr Paul Moller was the guest of Mr and Mrs D. Thomson over the week end.

A very enjoyable hard times dance was held in the Hall on Friday night. Prizes for the best and hard time costumes were won by Mrs Pyle, Mrs Lumsden, Mr Waters and Mr J. Hadgood. This was the first dance of the season and thohe sponsoring it are to be congratulated upon the success of their venture.

Miss Scheer has been wearing a smile that won't come off since the Prize List of the Strathmore School Fair was published. Work was exhibited from the first four grades by thirteen pupils in twenty-nine classes and of these, thirty-one exhibits took prizes.

We wonder why Alex's face wore such a glum look when bour after hour slipped by on Friday night and still a certain young lady didn't put in her appearance. "Oh, well" said Alex as he pulled out his watch to see what day of the month it was, "That's a woman for you, I'm off 'em for life!"

From Another Correspondent

Namaka was quite a busy spot on Sunday, there being about 10 cars at the Tennis Court, and everybody swinging a wicked Racquet.

The dance held on Friday last was a divided success, there being a bumper crop, —I mean crowd in attendance. Bremner's orchestra had them dancing on everything but their feet.

Mrs Pyle won Best Dressed Lady, 20 lb. sack rolled oats donated by Mr Duker.

Mrs Lumsden won Comic Lady. Box chocolates donated by Mike Brown.

Pete Wilson won Comic Gents, $2. in merchandise donated by Mr Lewis Jack Bremner spent the week end with his parents here. He is getting to be a full fledged grocer since he went to Gleichen.

AS WE SEE THEM

Grace Scheer says she would like to know who the correspondent is (she wants to kiss him))

Topics of the day— Who is this correspondent.

Art Bremner, Ike Fawkes, Alex Lewis, Jim Bremner, Charlie Bremner and Kenny Watts braved the cold wind Monday evening to go hunting ducks Lewis gets excited and tried to shoot the moon.

Andy Thomson appears to be coming to town quite frequently all dressed up, (wonder why)

Pete and Johnny are back on the job of batching again, having been out threshing for a month or more. Pete says there wasn't a clean dish in the place, everything being just as they left them.

Harold Casselman is holding an "At Home" at his residence on Saturday, kindly bring your own tea.

There seems to be something wrong with a Sedan in town. (Better get a ford Mr Behan.)

Last one pair Riding Boots, only used ten years, big reward.

Anyone wanting to learn the latest steps in dancing should see Alex Lewis.

This is what you might call rubbing it in. Namaka sitting with 23 empty box cars, the way freight comes along and takes 22 of them leaving one. Now then there is a prize being given to the elevator man who gets enough grain to fill it.

Some people with new fords are getting pretty good, they are now trying to push crossings out of the way

Determined to bring some of the best thouroughbreds in the country to his Texas track at Arlington, despite prohibition wagering, W. T. Waggoner, the oil millionaire, whose love for the thouroughbred dates back to the days when he rode a little mustang bareback and bare footed, is going forward with plans for the staging of his bet—less meeting this fall.

Never one to quibble over trifles, the Texan has spent $2,000,000 on a race track and if this sum proves inadequate, the oil man and his sons have $250,000,000 that will be applied on account.

Waggoners career has been an interesting one. It dates back to the time he drilled a well for water in his North Texas Ranch and found oil! But it wasn't oil he wanted it was water for his stock, and it is on record that Waggoner wanted to sell the ranch then and there.

There were no persons who cared to buy it however, so Waggoner just went along and the first thing he knew he was a millionaire.

Waggoner is getting old now. He can't make the trips to the big races now as often as he used to. He has to very much depend upon listening over the radio to announcements of the races, and then await the return of his sons from the tracks to get more details of how his horses ran.

So to see a good race horse at work once in a while he bought a little farm at Arlington, where he built a small grandstand and a few stables. It was to be just training place, but the love of good race horses continued Waggoner tried to get legalized betting returned to Texas by the pari-mutuel machines, with a percentage of the proceeds from the betting to go to the agricultural development of Texas. The legislature turned him down.

It was then that Tom Waggoner placed the biggest bet of his life on a horserace. He started out to buy more land. He din't stop until he bought 3,000 acres He built a fence around it horse high, pig proof and bull strong.

The Texan started out building stables by the score. He started graveling roads through the place 12 miles of regulation streets. The land was terraced and landscaped like a huge country club estate. A modern track was built and he is now putting down a twelve inch sand cushion on this track. More grandstand room is being built.

Persons passing along the highway marveled at the lot of work he was doing. It was costing millions millions but there was no announcement of what Waggoner was doing.

Then secently Paul Waggoner returned to Fort Worth from a visit to to the leading stables of the United States and announced that the racing would begin this fall. Dates had been set for this November 6 to 16. Purses of at least $50 000 would be given, and it was possible that the Waggoners themselves might give at least that much as a grand prize.

Paul Waggoner has just promised that all of the best horses in the United States would attend. At the same time he made a public announcement that $2,000,000 was being spent on the improvements on track, and furthermore, that $2000,000 would be all the betting that would be done there.

'HAVE BETTER CHANCE THAN EVER

New York. "I've got a better chance than I ever had."

These words constituted the major comment that Sir Thomas Lipton made to—day after his arrival from England regarding his challenge for the America Cup, the international yacht ting trophy, which will be held again in September 1930.

The veteran British yachtman, a bit different in appearance from innumerable pictures that have been printed of him, belied his seventy nine years in the enthusiasm with which he spoke of the impending contest, even though it is still a year away and the Shamrock V. in which he will make his 5th attempt to lift the famous cup, is still a creature of the yacht designer's imagination.

Sir Tomas's latest challenge has been filed with the New York Yacht Club by the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, and all negotiations have been conducted through those two organizations. His present visit is of a business nature, he said and has nothing directly to do with the yacht race, though doubtless there will be unofficial discussions with yachtsmen here pertaining to the international race, which will be held off Newport, R. I., instead of Sandy Hook, as the races in the past years have been.

Expanding upon his crisp statement that he thought he had a better chance than ever before, Sir Thomas remarked that next year's race would be under Lloyd's Scantling rules and that the boat he would build would not be a "freak" in any sense of the word, but would be a craft suitable for other uses than those of the single race for the cup. He was unstinting in his praise of the officials of the New York Yacht Club for the manner in which they had met the conditions the challenging club had set forth.

The new Lipton Shamrock will be built by Camper and Nicholson at Gosport, near Portsmouth, England, from designs by Charles E. Nicholson, and Sir Thomas said yesterday that the craft would probably be launched in April. Contrary to reports that it would be shipped to this side. Sir Thomas said that it would come over on her own keel, arriving probably in June.

ALEXANDER, BROKE AND DISGRACED, FACES BAN

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23— Like so many other great characters of the sport world in the past, Grover Cleveland Alexander, the Cardinal's veteran pitcher, has found that he cannot burn the candle at both ends. Until a few days ago, a hero, Alex is now a broken-hearted, disciplined star of the past who may never be given the opportunity to hurl big league baseball again.

He was sent home from New York the other day forty eight hours after his boss, Bill McKechnie, warned him that he would no longer shield him but would punish him severely if he broke the rules in the future. The action of McKechnie met the indorsement of other members of the team who did not approve of the way the club allowed Alexander to carry on while holding everybody else to the letter of the law.

"I am not through with baseball" Old Pete remarked when the punishment was handed him. "I am sorry for what I've done, although I realize I was wrong."

He burst out into tears and poured out a long pathetic story in which he attempted to show why he found it impossible to stay sober and keep his mind on baseball.

"I have had many troubles," he sobbed. "I have had troubles nobody knew anything about. I made good money and spent it freely. Today, with the end of my career not far off, I haven't got $2,500 to my name. What will happen after I drop out of baseball, I don't know. realize that some day I will have to quit. But I also know that, if given the proper rest, I can win two of every three games I start. This is no hard, though, for I hate to sit on the bench and pitch only once a week, whereas in the past I used to win four or five games in that time.

"My matrimonial troubles have caused me a lot of grief too. The wife and I split up some time ago, and that has done me no good. When we were married, we lived in the best of style and whatever the wife wanted I bought her."

"Of course I have nobody to blame but myself. I have been no angel and perhaps I'll never be one.

"Sam Breadon (president of the Cardinals) has been mighty good to me. He has done a mighty lot of good things for me and I sincerely appreciate it all. But I don't know what action he will take now.

"I've simply been unable to keep my mind on baseball. If I didn't have so many things worrying me, I'd be okay. I realize I brought whatever punishment I receive, upon myself."

The veteran's pitching record for the current season shows nine victories and seven defeats.

MARKET IN SCOTLAND FOR CANADIAN HONEY

Ottawa.— Trade in honey in Scotland is assuming large proportions and its use is increasing rapidly, states G. D. Johnson, Canadian trade commissioner in Glasgow, in the current issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Canadian honey has a great future in this market. Light ambers are preferred and strict attention should be paid to uniform grading.

The New Zealand product is Canada's greatest competitor and is sold to wholesaler in 1lb tins at $3.36 per dozen, less ten per cent. Large quantities of California honey are shipped to Scotland and have been sold in the past as low as 8.7 cents per pound C.I.F. Leith. It is thought that the new regulation that requires it to be marked "blended, imported" may have some effect on sales.

Buyers prefer to stock Empire produce, and Canadian and New Zealand honies are labelled as such. Shipments to Scotland should be made in bulk for repacking in bottles.

WHAT ABOUT IRRIGATION SYSTEM FOR STRATHMORE

The Standard last week published a report of a meeting held at Gleichen in the interest of irrigation and addressed by Mr. R. S. Stockton and Mr E. N. Ridley.

The story seems to have created quite a considerable interest and revived the hopes of many that possibly some arrangements might be reached whereby the Town of Starthmore might be become possessed of the benefits of irrigation.

There are quite a number of the people who are making a real honest effort each season to beautify their homes with flowers and also make an attempt to have a vegetable garden.

They are all handicapped in the matter of securing water except very inefficiently from wells, which are not at all suitable for the purpose. The water even if obtained at very special efforts is much too cold for use upon plants.

The remarkable results obtained by the Freeman children at the school fair are very direct evidence of what may be done under irrigation. Mr. Ernie Whiteside and A. P. Little are also prominent demonstrators of hort. icultural results, when their outstanding qualifications in this line are assisted by the liberal use of water

Another brilliant example of what can be done is shown by what Mr. T Schulte has accomplished upon a bald piece of prairie in a very short time.

Would it not be well for Mayor Shrimpton to arrange a public meeting to be addressed by Mr. Stockton.

Mr. Ridley and other irrigationists and let the general public be fully informed upon the possibilities of what irrigation would do for Strathmore and also what the cost would be, this latter point is very necessary as true Scotch blood still flows through the veins of many of T. M. Wears famous burgesses, to whom the proposition would have to be submitted in the end

A BIG

ONCE A MONTH AUCTION SALE

A short time ago, the Standard suggested that there was an opening for a big weekly auction market which will give the people of the Bow Valley an opportunity to dispose of livestock, poultry and any other article for which the people had no further use.

The Standard mentioned the name of A. Layzell, the popular Bow Valley auctioneer, as one man who could make a real success of the proposition.

Last week the Standard received a letter from Mr. Layzell in which he endorses the proposition, but feels that under present conditions that a weekly sale would not be a wise procedure, but that there is a fine opening for one to be held once a month and that he would be pleased to assist in any possible way. He points out that it would require the co-operation of both the Town and rural residents.

The Standard will be glad to have Mr. Layzell present his views in the matter and will be glad to publish the same and assist in any way to get a once a month sale organised.

Let's Go.

I SAW LAST WEEK

CHARLES KIMMETT too busy threshing to go duck shooting, waiting for the big moose season. CHARLIE KEELING standing admiring his beg white percherons and wondering when the 20 below zero weather will open up—no ponies to go and watch and no demand for black diamonds, can you beat it. Robert West so pleased with the School Fair that he was hunting for David McKay, the genial secretary to make a financial contribution and the latter running true to Scotch type, accepted with pleasure, next, don't crowd. JOHN CLEEVE, J. R. Clarke, R. H. Patterson and O Wright enjoying Bill VanOle's detailed account of a trip he had, hunting ducks at Jack Akkerman's plantation. THE CANADIAN LEGION mock parliament, devising ways and means to suppress or control Fred J. Dunn. The RISDON BOYS and the sons and daughters of Harry Freeman counting up their bank rolls after the prize money of the school fair was paid. MISS FOLK looking very much pleased with the reception given to her juvenile songsters. D. A. PERRY answering many enquiries regarding the new train service. GEORGE KOCH getting all ready to resume his practise as veterinary. GEO. CRITCHLOW looking up some winter garments. GEORGE PATRICK wondering when the infantile paralysis will be under control in Ontario so he may return to Lakeside. HERB ELLIS enquiring from Mike Moran when the Catho lic Woman are going to put on another chicken supper. BILL TIERNEY giving John Vermont a few pointers on the game of rummey at so much a point John claiming that Tierney is badly bent, if he actually isn't crooked at heart. BILLY GRAY suggesting that Bobby Hambly must reduce or Mayor Shrimpton would have to include wider sidewalks in next years budget. VIN MORAN missing his duck shooting when he failed to hear the alarm clock. DAVID McKAY of Orange Valley relating how late he and Principal Crowther had to work on Friday and Sunday nights—almost ran into the Sabbath, said David. ERNIE WHITESDE strutting around town with a couple of prosperous looking hunters. A. L. BLACK discoursing about the merits of a milk diet.

CALGARY MAN KILLED WHILE DUCK SHOOTING

J. M. Clindinin, manager of Sprung Clindinin and well known throught western Canada was shot and killed while duck hunting one mile east of Janet, on the Canadian National line seven miles east Calgary on Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock. A shot gun carried by Don Sprung, friends and associate in business, discharged while the men were scrambling down the bank of the Canadin Pacific Railway's irrigation canal to recover some ducks which Mr Clindinin had shot and which had fallen into the water.

According to Detective Russel of Provincial Police, who investigated the case the friends had been separated for a time and Mr Clindinin had, had some good shooting. He and Mr Sprung came together on the canal bank Mr Clindinin went ahead down the bank and Mr Sprung followed a few paces distant.

Trigger Became Tangled

Mr Sprung was carrying his shot gun under his arm in the usual fashion. Either rocks or a wire on the bank caused Mr Sprung to stumble and it is believed that the trigger became tangled with his tunic. The cartridge was exploded and the full charge of shot lodged in the back of Mr Clindinin's right shoulder. He fell unconscious and did not regain consciousness

NIGHTINGALE

The U.F.W.A. held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Stoodley, September 12th. Mrs Gilbert of Rockyford gave a most interesting paper on "Effects of Christianity on Heathen Women." She told of the Status of women from the time of Eve and her paper was interesting in every detail.

Mrs Griffith gave a report of the work done in the Clinic in Strathmore. It was the wish of the meeting that an expression of thanks and appreciation be published to the ladies of Strathmore who gave help and kindness to the mothers and children from this community.

Mrs Stoodley as president, thanked the ladies for their part of the afternoon's business and entertainment.

A delicious lunch was served and every one went home better for the afternoon outing.
